

MISCELLANY.

THE PRESIDENT AT HOME.

The Nashville Republican contains a long account of the reception of President Jackson by the Tennessee Convention, which is pronounced the most imposing spectacle ever witnessed in that State. The President was escorted into Nashville by a numerous cavalcade, amidst the firing of cannon, the ringing of bells, and the cheers of immense crowds of citizens who had collected in the streets and squares. Having been conducted to the hall where the Convention was in session, Gen. Carter, the President of that body, descended from the Speaker's chair, and addressed him as follows:—Gaz.

"The Assembly before which you stand, representing the people of the State of Tennessee in their highest political attitude, rise, sir, to receive you within the hall of their sitting, and in behalf of themselves and their constituents, to express their undiminished confidence in your patriotism, and their profound respect for your public and private character."

"It has been your lot, sir, first at the head of an army, and subsequently as Chief Magistrate of the nation, to be engaged in service more arduous and critical than has fallen to the duty of any citizen, save one, since the auspicious act of confederation and independence.—Alike vigorous, decisive, honest, and patriotic, in the cabinet as in the camp, it is your good fortune to have achieved a name commensurate with the existence of the Republic, and dear to a large majority of its citizens. That you may long live in the enjoyment of this enviable distinction, participating in the blessings of the Government which you fought for in youth, and so nobly sustained in a late hour of peril, is, sir, the ardent hope of this assembly, and the multitude who crowd around you."

In reviewing the many and important events which have given renown to your career, we will not so offend against your own convictions of the fallibility of all human wisdom as to say, that you have not possibly erred in administering the many high and solemn functions that have been submitted to your care by a confiding country; that you have not done so (if at all) from improper or impure motives, is a declaration due to the acknowledged patriotism that guides and directs your course in life;—and though the bitterness of party may now detract from your merits and impeach your motives, the deliberate judgment of another generation, uninfused by the feelings of those who differ from and condemn you, will enrol your name with the long list of patriots consecrated to fame and to the veneration of posterity.

"In the mixed multitude before you, and around you, you can readily distinguish the companions and associates of your early life—men who have stood forth at your side in the past hours of your perils and your triumphs—and their children who have grown up into life beneath your own eyes and observation: with one heart they now meet you, and tender the homage of affection, confidence and regard."

To which the President replied in the following manner:—Sir: I receive the greeting which you have been pleased to tender me on this occasion, with feelings too strongly excited by the imposing character of the body in whose behalf it is offered, and by the various associations which it recalls to my mind, to enable me, I fear, to make an adequate acknowledgment.

"I meet you, sir, and the august body over which you preside, as the representatives of the People whose partiality and confidence, far exceeding my claims, first brought me into public notice; and who have since, in every vicissitude of fortune, uniformly sustained me with an ardor of friendship, and generosity of fellow feeling, that never can be requited. To you and to them, let me say, that, in no situation in which I have been placed, have I lost sight of the responsibility which was due to them. I have ever been mindful that it was on the faith of their character that mine rested, in a great degree, to do whatever good or evil was to be the result of my labors in the service of our common country. When assured, then, by you, that these labors, notwithstanding the defect of judgment which they doubtless too often manifest, are yet worthy of the public approbation, I feel that I have been fortunate, and that the reward, as well as the stewardship which was too generously conferred, is disproportionate to my merit."

"Allow me, gentlemen, to express the hope, that your acts in the convention may be crowned with success, and that, in all time to come, the free People of Tennessee, whilst enjoying the prosperity and happiness which are the reward of wise and equal laws and a steady and virtuous administration of them, may remember each and all of you as their benefactors."

Having received the individual salutations of the members of the Convention, the President proceeded to Vauxhall to partake of a public dinner which had been prepared for the occasion, and at which were present 1500 persons. The health of the President having been drank with rounds of applause, that gentleman proposed the following toast:—

The true Constitutional currency—gold and silver coin: It can cover and protect the labor of our country without the aid of a National Bank, an Institution which can never be otherwise than hostile to the liberties of the People because its tendency is to associate wealth with an undue power over the public interest.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1834.

Upon our First Page will be found an account of the President's reception at Nashville. The Washington Globe, in alluding to this subject, makes the following excellent remarks:—

"The public will observe with pleasure the peculiar sensibility—the affectionate—the almost filial feelings of attachment, that have marked the reception of the President among his neighbors in Tennessee. The malignant persecution of the factions which have combined to destroy his fame, as a means of impairing the strength of those principles which he has restored to the administration, and which, if once thoroughly recognized by the People, must forever debar the ambitious leaders of the coalition from the control of the Government to which they aspire, has drawn forth the earnest and impressive demonstration of love and veneration, which, under other circumstances his neighbors would have restrained. The unanimity with which the Convention of Tennessee came forward in a body, to mark their approbation of the President's course as to the Bank, including the veto and the removal of the deposits—two great measures, most especially his own, and the responsibility of which he therefore more emphatically assumed than any other, must have been gratifying to him in the highest degree. The Representatives of the State of Tennessee knew him well. They knew that his hostility to the Bank of the U. States proceeded from no design on his part to create a spurious paper currency on State credit. They knew that he always opposed a currency of any kind, which did not consist of coin, or which was not immediately convertible into it. They knew that he always opposed the Bank of the United States, as well because he considered it unconstitutional, as because it could send notes so far from its vaults, as to become practically unconvertible to a great extent, and in this way, and through the extent of its other privileges, supersede the precious metals as a currency, and render itself the fountain of the whole circulating medium of the Union. Knowing these things, and the utter abhorrence which the President has always expressed, of having the currency—the circulating life blood of a commercial community—in the hands of a monopoly, the persons who surrounded him could bear testimony to the sincerity of the sentiment which he proclaimed in his toast. 'GOLD AND SILVER—The true constitutional currency.' This, coupled with the boldness and resolution with which he encountered the power of the Bank, to restore the constitutional currency, and his other famous toast, 'THE FEDERAL UNION—it must be preserved'—together with the measures by which he gave it efficacy, will hand his name down with increasing honors through every generation. In breaking the power of the Bank, and restoring the constitutional currency, he has raised a rampart against consolidation and aristocracy. In crushing nullification he has put down the tendencies which threatened anarchy in the dissolution of the confederacy."

TORY TESTIMONY TO TORY HONESTY.

In the spring of 1832, a complaint was made to Congress by one John McClintock, late Inspector of the port of Wiscasset, against the Collector of that port, to the following effect. The law requires that the officers of the Customs, in giving receipts for the amount of their salaries, shall take an oath that they had received the whole amount of their pay, and had given no part thereof to any person directly or indirectly.—The Collector of Wiscasset having kept back twenty-five per cent. of Mr. Clintock's salary, to be paid over to the party fund, wished McClintock to give a receipt for the whole amount, and to take the above oath. McClintock refused to do this, and asked the Collector, how, under such circumstances he could take the oath. The Collector said it was a present. McClintock said he could not swear that he had not given any part of his salary directly or indirectly to any person when here was a direct gift to the Collector of a quarter part of it. The Collector replied that he could find people enough who would do it; and the next day, sent McClintock his discharge.

When this matter was before the house, Mr. Dutton J. Pearce of Rhode Island—now a celebrated Tory—made a speech upon the occasion, from which we make an extract below. The J. Gooch whose note Mr. Pearce introduces into his speech will be recollected as a former inspector of this port, and as lately appointed to edit a Tory paper in Mississippi, established under the special patronage of General Jackson. What objection can the Tories make to a witness whom the Kitchen Cabinet endorse?

Here follows the extract:—
Mr. Speaker, to show that the Collector of Wiscasset may not be the only officer of the government who is guilty of what is alleged against him, it may be proper to resort to what, I hope, exists only in rumor. But, sir, I have heard he is not alone in these exactions. It has been rumored that the Collector of the Port of Boston, for party purposes, has made, or attempted to make similar exactions; that a refusal to comply with the requisitions which were made has been followed, in some cases, with the loss of office, on the part of the recusant incumbents; that these exactions were resisted by Gen. McNeil, by Mr. James; by Mr. Norton, whose appointments and disappointments have made us familiar with a word, not to be found in the dictionary of old Bailey or Dr. Webster.  Since I commenced my remarks this morning, and during the time I have been speaking, I have found on my desk a note from one of the reporters of this house, which I will read:—

"I authorize you to say that graver charges than have been exhibited against the Collector of Wiscasset, will be exhibited against the Collector of Boston."

J. GOOCH."

DUTY J. PEARCE.

THIS IS TO ME, UNEXPECTED PROOF. The writer of the note I know only as a reporter; and heard that he was once in office under the Collector of Boston.

The above often refuted falsehood, appears in the Atlas of yesterday—a very fit matter for such a paper, and as true as the generality of its statements.—We pronounce the story about the Collector of Boston levying contributions on the officers of the Customs, for any purpose, or in any way, and we pronounce it from authority, to be false in every particular, and without even the colour of any thing true to found it upon. Mr. Pearce, when called upon at the time, by Mr. Henshaw, admitted that he had no better authority for the charge than appears above, which was mere rumor. The lie, however, may gratify the malignity of a degraded stipendiary and the depraved politicians who support him. It will deceive no intelligent man.

Christ Church Boston.—We are pleased to learn that this ancient edifice is about to be thoroughly repaired, and painted on the outside, and a new Vestry and School rooms, are to supply the place of the present vestry at the east end of the Church.

This is one of the oldest buildings in the city; the Corner Stone was laid on the 15th day of April, 1723, and the building completed during the succeeding summer and autumn. When the contemplated repairs are finished, this building, we should think may stand, for at least half a Century, an ornament to the Northern section of the city, and we hope that the learned and pious Rector of the Church may long be continued to a beloved and affectionate flock.

POLICE COURT.

A compliment to Uncle Sam's Service.—An innocent looking blockhead, from the flourishing State of Ohio, calling himself Joseph Jackson, was arraigned for stealing, from a junk store, a choice assortment of old rags, to the value of ten dollars; and for said shabby rag robbery was committed, for a jury trial, in default of bail, for $100.—After having gone through the agreeable and interesting ceremony of a committal, upon this charge, he was again arraigned, for a more creditable and spirited enterprise, viz.—boldly and openly entering the dwelling house of Mr. John Ryan, and stealing a trunk, containing his lady's apparel, worth upwards of a hundred dollars. A woman saw Jackson come down stairs with the trunk, and run through Hatter's square. Mr. Ryan, being informed of this circumstance, followed, and traced him to a house, where he was found, with his head secreted under a bed, but with his legs protruding out half the length of the room. With the singular sagacity of the salmon, referred to by Sir Jonah Barrington, in one of his toughest bouncers, Jackson seemed to think that if he placed his head, where his own eyes could not see, there could be no danger of being seen himself—a very common mistake, by the way, of short-sighted sinners, in general. The trunk was found in the same room, where Jackson had hidden his brazen scone, and the case was too plain to admit even of an unreasonable doubt; but out of courtesy, the judge asked him if he had any thing to say, to which he replied, with native simplicity—"There don't seem to be much occasion to say nothing; but I suppose, you'll have no objection to ship me in the States' service." It is to be inferred from Jackson's modest proposal, that, in Ohio, the hook'em fraternity believe in the wild superstition, that it is necessary to undergo an examination in the Police Court, in Boston, before they can be qualified to serve their country as man-o'-war-men; and therefore, out of pure patriotism, they conceive and execute some bold and unequivocal piece of felony, in order to obtain an interview with their worship, who do the honors of the Court.—In the present case, Jackson's desires will be gratified to the very letter, though not to the spirit, as he will inevitably have to "do the state some service."

The Pirates.—Having heard a terrific description of the Spaniards now confined in Leverett street Jail, on a charge of piracy, we availed ourselves of our right of entree to the prison, and took a bird's eye glance at the monsters of the deep, but were somewhat surprised to find them quite small and ordinary looking men, extremely civil and goodnatured, with a free dash of humour in their conversation, and easy indifference at their situation.

The first in importance, as well as in appearance, is the Captain, PEDRO GIBERT,* a Castilian, 38 years of age, and the son of a merchant. He may not be flattered by the avowal on our part, that in appearance he did not quite come up to our standard, for the leader of a brave band of buccaners, though a pleasant, and rather a handsome looking mariner. A man can have no pretensions to the title of a hero, who is less than five feet ten, and stout in proportion, whereas Captain Gibert is but five feet four inches and a half—only one inch, heaven save the mark! taller than ourself. It is not therefore strange, that notwithstanding the terrors of his name, we were enabled to scan his countenance with some composure, especially as he was handcuffed to a fellow prisoner, and a grated window also conveniently intervened between us. He submitted very pleasantly to our scrutiny, and asked, with an intelligent smile, if we were a physiognomist; to which we of course replied, "sufficiently so, captain, to discover that you are a handsome fellow." He replied, that he had heard so before, but not from men. From which we infer, that he has found favor in that quarter, where the brave alone desire to seek it, and who alone can obtain it—with the fair. Indeed, if painters may be believed, his round face, ample, straight, and not too lengthy nose, round forehead, and full, but not fierce black eye, presented a tout ensemble to which the ladies are said to be particularly partial. His companion in steel was Francisco Ruiz, the capenter, 34 years of age, and only 5 feet 3 inches high, and though not very ferocious of aspect, will never be hung for his good looks. Of the others, but one is entitled to any especial notice.—Antonio FARRER, a native African, possessed of some humor, and broken English; as there were several seams on his face, resembling sabre gashes, we inquired of him where he received the wounds; he replied that they were tattoo marks, and, upon closer inspection, we found them to be cut with great regularity, on each cheek, with a chain of diamond-shaped links branded on the forehead, and resembling an ornamental band of a coronet.

The following dimensions may serve to give an idea of the formidable crew, twelve of whom are said to be native Spaniards:—
Pedro Gibert, Captain, Castilian, 38 years, 5 ft. 4 in. high; Bernardo de Soto, 28 y., 5 ft. 7; Francisco Ruiz, 34 y., 5 ft. 3; Nicolas Acosta, 16 y., 5 ft. 4; Juan Antonio Portano, 24 y., 5 ft. 4; Juan Montenegro, 31 y., 5 ft. 6; Jose Velezquez, 30 y., 5 ft. 4; Antonio Ferrer, 28 y., 5 ft. 7; Angelo Garcia, 28 y., 5 ft. 4; Manuel Boega, 44 y., 5 ft. 3; Manuel de Castello, 30 y., 5 ft. 7; Domingo de Gusman, 22 y., 5 ft. 3, (an Indian); Manuel Delgado, 30 y., 5 ft. 3.—Witnesses: Jose Varela, 22 y., 5 ft. 4; Anastasio Silveyro, 23 y., 5 ft. 3; Simon Domingo, 26 y., 5 ft. 5.—United States evidences.

The Transcript of last evening says:—"We learn from Mr. Stephen Badlam, who acted as interpreter at the examination of the prisoners, that one of them was the mate of the Pinda, and was owner of the vessel. His name is Bernado de Sota. He informed Mr B. that he was master of a vessel which made a voyage from Havana to Philadelphia in 1831, and was consigned to a respectable house there. On his return to Havana, he discovered the ship Minerva aground on one of the Bahama reefs, and on fire, the passengers and crew clinging to the masts and yards. He approached her, at great danger to himself and vessel, and took off seventy-two persons, whom he carried in safety to Havana, and was afterwards presented, by the insurance offices at Philadelphia, with a silver vase, as a token of their approbation."

The Convent Rioters.—James H. Conant, charged with being an associate of Prescott P. Pond and others, in the late riot, was this forenoon examined at the Town Hall, Charlestown, and fully committed for trial, but being refused. He was arrested in Lowell yesterday.—Transcript.

EXAMINATION OF THE PIRATES.

The pirates were landed at the Crowninshield wharf, at one o'clock, on Thursday, and taken from there in carriages to the town hall, the Court house being under repair. Twelve of them, handcuffed together, took their place at the bar. They were all young and middle aged men, the eldest being not more than forty.—Physiognomically they were not uncommonly ill looking, in general, although there were exceptions, and they were all clean and wholesome in their appearance. One of them was a young negro, remarkably black, and two or three others had a taint of Indian and African blood.

Judge Davis, of the U. S. District Court, presided; and the complaint having been read by Andrew Dunlap, Esq. they severally pleaded not guilty, their replies being translated by S. Badlam, Esq. sworn interpreter. On being asked by the interpreter, they all stated that they were acquainted with the Spanish. Their plea of not guilty was reiterated with great vociferation, and much gesticulation and heat. The circumstances of the piracy were rehearsed by Mr Dunlap, who complimented warmly the zeal displayed by the British government and its officers, in bringing to justice offenders against the laws of humanity, in this and numerous other cases. The witnesses were then sworn.

The protest of Capt. Butman and Mr Read, 1st officer of the Mexican, was then read, and sworn to by them. Joseph Peabody, Esq. then swore that he was a citizen of the United States, and owner of the brig Mexican.

The deposition of Fernando Jose Perez, one of the pirate crew, taken at Clarence, Fernando Po, admitted King's evidence, was then read. The substance of this deposition, as well as we could gather from hearing it hastily read once, was that he entered on board the sch. Pinda, at Havana, about 13 months previous to the taking of the deposition; that the sch. had on board 2 iron guns, &c. [the armament of the Pinda was here described]; that they sailed with an intention of going on a slaving voyage to the coast of Africa; that about 20 days after they sailed they fell in with an American brig, which they hailed and brought to; that they then desired her to send her boat, which was immediately done; that a number of the crew of the Pinda got into the boat armed with pistols and knives, and made the men in the boat row them to the American brig; that on boarding her they immediately took possession of her, robbed her of 10 boxes of specie, confined the crew in the hold, took measures for firing the vessel, and then quitted her, carrying with them the specie; that on quitting the American brig they discovered another, an English brig, which they took and robbed, and then scuttled and burnt after which they sailed for Africa; that they were afterwards chased by a frigate about eight hours, but succeeded in escaping, and proceeded to the river Nazareth, in pursuit of slaves; that about two months after this they sailed from the Nazareth, previously cutting off the figure head of their brig; that about nine days afterwards, on their return to the Nazareth, they were fallen in with and boarded by an English man-of-war; that when the man of war sent her boat to board them, they all took to their boats, and landed on the shore of the Nazareth, where all but the captain took to the bush; that he, the deponent, and five others had leave from the captain to go where they pleased; and that among the six there was divided about 2000 dollars, his own share being 250, which he took.

Perez was afterwards examined, and confirmed the foregoing deposition, in all important particulars. He swore that all the men present belonged to the Pinda. There were thirty on board when they left Havana.—The Captain had stated that they were bound for Rio Janeiro. Some of the boxes taken from the vessel (supposed to be the Mexican) were marked with a "P" or a "T."

Mr Reed, 1st officer of the Mexican, swore with great positiveness to the identity of two of the prisoners. [These two were perhaps the most strongly marked and ill looking of the lot.] Mr R. also thought he recognized a third. Perez then pointed out four or five of those who went on board the Mexican.

One of the men identified by Mr Reed, was the carpenter of the piratical schooner, and was pointed out by Perez as one who boarded the vessel.

Mr Dunlap stated that he should carry the examination no further, unless directed to do so by the Court, this being preliminary merely, and the prisoners having no counsel.

The prisoners admitted as U. States' evidences, were then ordered to recognize for their appearance as witnesses at the next term of the U. S. Circuit Court, to be held in Boston, and the examination was brought to a close. The prisoners were taken into the carriages which brought them from the wharf, and conveyed immediately to Boston. Two or three times during the examination, the prisoners clamorously exclaimed for "Justice!" "Queremos solamente la Justicia!" "We only want justice. They pleaded not guilty "con respecto," with respect.

The hall was crowded to suffocation with persons eager to behold the visages of a gang of pirates, that terror and bugbear of the inhabitants of a navigating community. But few were able to obtain a sight of them, and scarcely any, except the few who were within the bar, to obtain any idea of what was going on.

It is a case, so far as we recollect, altogether without precedent, in this country, to have a band of sixteen pirates placed at the bar at one time, and charged with the commission of the same crime.—Salem Gazette.

Sloop Sunk.—The sloop Lady Madison, of Albany, while laying at anchor near Kingston, without a light, was run into by the steamboat Ohio, about 10 o'clock last night. Capt Bartholomew boarded the sloop in his small boat, and found her in a sinking condition. An attempt was made to tow her in shore, but she sunk soon after getting under way, and so suddenly that Mr Wakeman, pilot of the steamboat Constitution, who had taken the helm of the sloop, and one of the hands of the Ohio, were left in the whirlpool and picked up by the small boat. The sloop's crew had taken to their small boat, except one man, who was taken out of the rigging by Capt Bartholomew, after the sloop sunk. She was an old vessel, and loaded with grindstones.—N. Y. Star.

A fellow was picked up in the street, yesterday, completely besotted, and carried on a cart to the Police.—On arriving there, the jolting of the cart caused him to vomit very freely: a physician standing by, immediately pronounced it a decided case of Asiatic Cholera.—He was then ordered to be conveyed to the Duane street Hospital; when about to convey him in the Hospital, he inquired what building it was; on being told, the effect was electric—he jumped up, and with the rapidity of wind, ran off; leaving the doctor, officers, and attendants, lost in wonder. The physician now, no doubt, can furnish a running commentary on the disease.—Ibid.

A Gourmand.—We may preach temperance, but people will not practice it. At one of our hotels, a young gentleman was observed to eat corn, beans, potatoes, chickens, tripe, roast beef, birds, peaches, plum pie, rice pudding, custard, gilet pie, together with sherry, champagne, brandy and water. We have not heard how he felt after the "experiment," but trust that he was not inconvenienced by the deposits.—Ibid.

The Mobile Mercantile says—"For the last forty-two days we have had thunder and rain in this city, without the intermission of more than one day at a time, and with the exception of four days in all. Our streets are so clear of filth, that the water which courses down the gutters is as pure and limpid as the gush of a mountain spring, or a woodland rill."—Ibid.

The artists of Philadelphia are about getting up an exhibition for the general benefit of the profession.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival at New York, of the ship Victoria, Capt. Merrill, London papers of July 26, and Liverpool papers to the evening of the 26th, have been received.

Down to July 20th, there had been no engagement between the armies of Don Carlos and Gen. Rodil. The former has had his head quarters at Santa Cruz de Campezo, and the latter at Lerin. Reinforcements of 9,000 men had left Pampluna to join him. Only 300 recruits, it is said, had joined Don Carlos. A decisive engagement was expected, in the course of a few days at farthest.

A letter of the 16th from Genoa, intimates that Don Miguel, contrary to his solemn promise, was endeavoring to get back to Portugal. Should he make the attempt, he will unquestionably be treated as an outlaw.

The Budget.—On Friday evening the Chancellor of the Exchequer brought in his "financial statement." He began by stating that the receipts for the year ending the 5th of July, were 46,914,586l.

The expenditure was 44,737,556l.

Leaving a surplus of income over expend. of 2,177,030l.

Horrid Outrage.—On Sunday evening, about 9 o'clock, some unknown ruffian stabbed with a dagger, three females who were walking in the Regent's Park. The police are making active search after the monster. The sufferers, two ladies and a female servant, have all been dreadfully wounded in the groin, and are laying in a dangerous state.

The morning Herald of the 26th mentions a report of the death of the poet Coleridge on the previous morning.

Between 60 and 70 houses had been destroyed by fire at North Tawnton, near Plymouth.

On the 24th a farewell dinner was given to General Mina, at the Albion, in London, which was attended by all the principal Spaniards in the city.

France.—The Paris papers of July 23d state that the French Chambers will certainly sit for the dispatch of business immediately after the preliminary proceedings of the new Chamber of Deputies shall have been gone through.

M. Delpuch, banker, arrived in Paris, on Monday last, has been set at liberty. The management of the loan advertised by M. Jauge (for Don Carlos) was said to have been undertaken by a respectable London house.

A speculator in Spanish stock, M. Zacharie, shot himself in Paris, July 23d, owing to his inability to meet his engagements.

The Government gave orders, several days ago, for all arms, ammunition, and military equipments in the places on the Spanish frontiers, that seemed destined for Don Carlos, to be seized.

Mr Burton, the Eastern traveller, arrived at Marseilles from Arabia, a few days ago.

Spain.—Bayonne, July 18.—It is reported that D Carlos has appointed M. Castillo, the late Consul General of Spain in London, his Ambassador in Russia; Count Aleudia, in Vienna; the Chevalier de Los Rios, in Berlin; M. Alvarez de Toledo, in Naples; M. de Navio, in Turin; the Marquis de Labrador, in Rome.

The decree published by Don Carlos in Portugal, and declaring traitors the Ministers who had proclaimed Isabella II., on the 29th September 1833, and charging them with abusing the powers they exercised at the demise of Ferdinand VII., has been solemnly promulgated at Elisondo. Those Ministers are M. Zea Bermudez, Count d'Ofalia, General Cruz, Don Antonio Martinez, and Don Gauberto Gonzalez! The decree further enacts that their property shall be confiscated, and that they have forfeited all their titles and honors.

I have learned from unquestionable authority, that 25,000 or 30,000 muskets have been purchased in France and England, by Don Carlos.

It appears that Don Carlos intends to convoke the Cortes par Estamentos.

Paris, July 23.—The following telegraphic despatch, dated Monday (21st) was received yesterday:

"Don Carlos appears to be still in the environs of Salvatierra. Rodil has sent 3,000 men from Pampluna towards the valley of Bastan. El Pastor, on his side, has marched to Salvatierra. The insurgents are suffering from privations, in consequence of Rodil's energetic measures to cut off their provisions."

The Queen Regent of Spain, having acknowledged the new State of Belgium, has appointed Don Pedro Alcantara Arguiz, to be her Charge d'Affairs at the Court of Brussels.

Cotton Market, July 25.—The demand since Wednesday has subsided, and little done, although an improvement of 4d for the common class of American cotton, and 1 on others is fairly established and maintained, though the market closes quietly. The sales for the week ending the 24th, amounted to 43,630 bags.

On the 25th, 1500 bags at a moderate demand—a sale was effected on the 26th, of 1500; prices continuing firm.

A pretty considerable woman that for a little place like Brooklyn, Ct. But she is scarcely a circumstance to a woman who sells vegetables in the Fulton Market, in this city. Why, this latter weighs 750, is three yards in circumference, sits on half a dozen chairs at once; and as for going to sleep "all over" or going to sleep at all, those who deal with her, declare she is always wide awake.—N. Y. Trans.

the zinc plates are exposed to the acid in copper cases. He has just completed a superb Plate Electric Machine, nearly 3 feet diameter; and a large Galvanic Battery, of 90 cells, of zinc, worthy the attention of those who purchase for public institutions or private use. The whole of which he warrants made of the best materials, and finished equal to any imported and made in this country, and superior to any apparatus he has just completed a superb Plate Electric Machine, nearly 3 feet diameter; and a large Galvanic Battery, of 90 cells, of zinc, worthy the attention of those who purchase for public institutions or private use. The whole of which he warrants made of the best materials, and finished equal to any imported and made in this country, and superior to any apparatus he has just completed a superb Plate Electric Machine, nearly 3 feet diameter; and a large Galvanic Battery, of 90 cells, of zinc, worthy the attention of those who purchase for public
